Thank you for offering your book as a feature in the Kindness Kangaroo Library. I believe in the power of words to help inspire and teach children, and books especially hold that magic. I think we all deserve encouragement and support which is why I have opened up my library to include books by indie authors.

I offer Kangaroo Tales each month and strive to find the perfect day for each book to be featured. It is possible to request a specific month, if you are celebrating a milestone, launch etc. but because of scheduling I cannot guarantee a position on a specific day.

I will make posts on social media about your storytime session and occasionally I feature a book in one of my blog posts too. I will send marketing ads and links to your social media accounts as well as tag you in any posts featuring your book so please like and share with your audience too.

Each month, the public votes on their favourite Kangaroo Tale for that month then those books move to the nomination round for the Kindness Kangaroo Library Book Award. At the end of the year all the favourites are voted on again and a winner is chosen and awarded.

Here is what I need from you:

Fill out the Kangaroo Tale form and include it with a physical copy of your book
